Children have an innate love for stories. Stories create magic and a sense of wonder at the world. Stories teach us about life, about ourselves and about others. Storytelling is a unique way for students to develop an understanding, respect and appreciation for other cultures, and can promote a positive attitude to people from different lands, races and religions. To fulfil these objectives story enactment session was arranged for pre-primary kids. The name of the story was "Save Trees Save Earth".

Pre-primary teachers along with few children enacted story using different props and gave the message that we should not cut the trees and trees are very important for all human beings as well as for animals and birds. Through the story children were elucidated about the things which we get from trees. Children from audience also shared their views about the importance of trees.
