The Third Language Department organised an engaging Art Integrated Learning (AIL) Group Activity for the French students of Class VII on 14 August 2026. The activity was planned to provide students with an engaging and creative platform to learn French by integrating language learning with art and visual expression.

As part of the activity, students enthusiastically participated in a Poster/3D Model Making Activity. Working in groups, they explored creative ways to present French vocabulary and concepts through colourful posters and innovative three-dimensional models. The activity encouraged students to use their imagination while applying their knowledge of the French language.

The students displayed great enthusiasm and active participation throughout the activity. They thoughtfully planned their themes, selected appropriate French words and phrases, and worked collaboratively to bring their ideas to life. Their colourful posters and well-crafted 3D models reflected their creativity, attention to detail and understanding of the language. The group-based nature of the activity also helped students develop cooperation, communication and problem-solving skills.

The activity successfully encouraged students to appreciate the French language and culture through creative expression. It provided an enriching learning experience while fostering collaboration, artistic skills and a positive attitude towards language learning.
