The students of Class IX of Delhi Public School, Gandhinagar had an enriching educational trip to Laxmi Vilas Palace, Baroda on 07 October 2025. The visit aimed to help students explore the rich cultural heritage, art, and architecture of Gujarat.

The visit began with a tour of the museum and art gallery, which displayed a remarkable collection of ancient weapons, sculptures, paintings, and royal artifacts from the Gaekwad dynasty. Students were fascinated by the exquisite artwork and the historical significance of each piece, which reflected the grandeur of a bygone era.

After exploring the museum, the students moved on to the beautiful palace gardens, spread across vast acres of lush greenery. The well-maintained lawns, fountains, and floral arrangements offered a serene and refreshing atmosphere, perfect for relaxation and photography.

The highlight of the trip was the visit to the magnificent Laxmi Vilas Palace, an architectural marvel four times larger than Buckingham Palace. Its intricate carvings, grand interiors, and stained-glass windows left everyone awestruck. The students learned about the palace's history and the legacy of the Gaekwad rulers, gaining insight into the royal lifestyle and architectural brilliance of the 19th century.

The final stop of the day was Kirti Mandir, a memorial built by Maharaja Sayajirao Gaekwad III in memory of his ancestors. The temple's impressive murals depicting scenes from the Mahabharata and Ramayana added a spiritual and cultural dimension to the visit.

Overall, the trip to Laxmi Vilas Palace, Baroda was a memorable and educational experience. It not only enhanced the students' knowledge of art, culture, and history but also inspired a sense of pride in India's rich heritage.
