Visit to an Old Age Home

It is beautifully said that “Old age: the crown of life, is our play’s last act”. A visit to the old age on 3rd August was really a heart rending experience for the CSR Team as well as for the students. The inmates were very hospitable and friendly, and they welcomed us with a beautiful smile. To break their monotonous life and to bring happiness and love in the life of our senior citizens our students presented a humorous skit on the principles of Gandhiji and a melodious group song. It was followed by the antakshari which was played between the inmates and the students, they sang evergreen old hindi songs. It was a different kind of delightful moment for the children to hear their joyous laughs, their toothless smiles and hushed giggles. To bring more merriness in their lives the CSR Team and students served them lunch, and distributed the Personal Hygiene Kits to all the inmates of the old age home. One of the members of the home became very emotional after interacting with the students and his feelings welled up in his eyes. The visit was a soul stirring experience. The inmates of the old age home with their hankering hearts and unwavering hopes will always motivate us to keep doing such great work for social cause in future.
